AWARDS & HONORS

- 10/2015 Vivere Travel Grant (Co-Author)
Grant award for abstract presentation at the 2015 ASRM Meeting in Baltimore. How compliant are member clinics in following ASRM/SART blastocyst stage transfer guidelines?: An analysis of 34,140 cycles from the SART registry.
- 10/2015 Vivere Travel Grant (Co-Author)
Grant award granted for abstract presentation at the 2015 ASRM Meeting in Baltimore. Embryo transfer practices and multiple birth rates following in vitro fertilization: has insurance mandate status influenced practice patterns over time?
- 6/2015 ASRM Corporate Member Council Award (Co-Author)
One of fifteen $1,500 awards given on basis of scientific merit of abstract submission to the 2015 ASRM Annual Meeting in Baltimore, MD. How compliant are member clinics in following ASRM/SART blastocyst stage transfer guidelines?
- 5/2015 1st Place, Hammond Research Day 2015, Duke University
First prize for abstract, manuscript and oral presentation with project entitled: The effect of postpartum progesterone on cardiac function, NT-ProBNP, and inflammatory biomarkers in women with gestational hypertension
- 3/2014 Pacific Coast Reproductive Society Scholarship Award
Awarded full travel stipend given on basis of prior academic achievement to attend the 62nd Annual Meeting of the Pacific Cost Reproductive Society in Indian Wells, CA.

- 10/2013 ASRM Corporate Member Council Award (Lead Author)
One of fifteen $1,500 awards given on basis of scientific merit of abstract submission to the 2013 IFFS/ASRM Annual Meeting in Boston, MA.
Pregnancy outcomes decline in recipients over age 44: an analysis of 27,959 fresh donor oocyte in vitro fertilization (IVF) cycles from the society for assisted reproductive technology (SART)
- 6/2011—6/2012 Administrative Chief Resident, Dept. of OB/GYN, Duke University
Elected by peers and faculty to perform administrative duties for the residency program (32 total residents)
- 5/2011 1st Place, Hammond Annual Research Day 2011, Duke University
First prize for abstract, manuscript and oral presentation with project entitled: Implementation of a novel quantification method to evaluate cardiac histological injury in a transgenic mouse model expressing human mitochondrial progesterone receptor (PR-M)
- 10/2010—4/2012 Resident Reporter (Multiple Organizations)
American Society for Reproductive Medicine, 2010
North Carolina OB/GYN Society Annual Meeting, 2011
North Carolina OB/GYN Society Annual Meeting, 2012
- 6/2010 Duke University Medical Center Appleseed Teaching Award
Elected by medical students and faculty as an example of a “gifted educator and mentor within the Duke University residency programs.”
- 8/2004—5/2008 UT-Southwestern Medical School, Alumni Award Scholarship
Tuition scholarship to medical school based on scholastic merit
- 8/2000—6/2004 Dean’s List, College of Liberal Arts, University of Texas at Austin
- 8/2000—6/2004 Summa Cum Laude, University of Texas at Austin
- 8/2000—6/2004 University Honors, Plan II Honors, University of Texas at Austin
- 8/2000—6/2004 College Scholar, University of Texas at Austin
- 9/2003—5/2004 David A. Ott, M.D. Endowed Scholarship, University of Texas at Austin
Awarded tuition support on the basis of scholastic merit
- 9/2002—5/2004 First Violinist, Plan II String Quartet
Selected for the first violin position in the Plan II String Quartet under the direction of Prof. Paul Olefsky at the University of Texas at Austin

- 9/2002—5/2003 Concertmaster, University of Texas Symphony Orchestra
Selected as the first ranked violinist in one of two main performance symphonies
- 6/2001—7/2001 Michael E. DeBakey Surgical Scholar
Rotated through Ben Taub and the Methodist Hospital (in conjunction with the Baylor College of Medicine) as a surgical intern to assist in cardiothoracic surgery with Dr. Michael J. Reardon.

FELLOWSHIP HONORS THESIS

Yeh JS, Daubert M, Kuchibhatla M, Stanczyk FZ, Price TM. The Effect of Postpartum Progestogen on Cardiac Function, NT-ProBNP, and Inflammatory Biomarkers in Women with Gestational Hypertension

Faculty Mentor: Thomas Price, MD. May 2015.

RESIDENCY HONORS THESIS

Yeh JS, Likes CE, Hawkins KC, Dai Q, Price TM. Quantification of Cardiac Histologic Injury in a Transgenic Mouse Model of Heart Failure Expressing a Novel Mitochondrial Progesterone Receptor (PR-M)

Faculty Mentor: Thomas Price, MD. May 2011.

UNDERGRADUATE HONORS THESIS

Yeh JS, Domjan W, Winslade WJ. An Animal Anthology: Perspectives on Human and Non-Human Thought and Motivations. University of Texas at Austin, College of Liberal Arts, Plan II Honors

Faculty Mentors: William Winslade, J.D., Ph.D. & Wendy Domjan, Ph.D. May 2004.

SOFTWARE DESIGN

Yeh JS, Turner TB, Valea FA, Brown HL. OB/GYN Resident Assistant iOS App. Led software development team from Duke University to develop an iOS iPhone app that assists OB/GYN residents with daily housestaff activities at Duke University Medical Center. Fall 2012.

Yeh JS, Turner TB. Paging Assistant iOS App. Led software development team from Duke University to develop iOS iPhone app that assists physicians in managing pager cross-cover and coverage settings at Duke University Medical Center. Fall 2012.

Yeh JS, Turner TB, Price TM. OB/GYN Mobile Quiz/Learning App. Led software development team from Duke University to develop iOS iPhone app to supplement student/resident/fellow education at Duke University Medical Center. Spring 2013.

RESEARCH & GRANTS

Active Funded Research:

The effect of progestins on the cardiac function of postpartum women

Dates: 8/2013—6/2015

Grant: Charles B. Hammond Research Award, Duke University
Division of Reproductive Endocrinology & Infertility, Duke University

In conjunction with the Division of Cardiology at Duke University, we are investigating the possibility that high dose progestin administration accelerates the recovery of the postpartum heart to a pre-pregnant state in women with gestational hypertensive disease

Role: Principal Investigator & Study Administrator

Randomized trial measuring the effect of mobile apps on education

Dates: 5/2013—7/2015

Grant: Duke University Graduate Medical Education Innovation Award

Division of Reproductive Endocrinology & Infertility, Duke University

In conjunction with the Duke University Department of Computer Science, we developed a mobile teaching app to improve teaching to residents. Our goal is to improve in-service exam scores with use of this app.

Role: Principal Investigator & Study Administrator

The effect of autologous stimulation on fresh cycle outcomes in low responders

Dates: 4/2014—7/2015

Division of Reproductive Endocrinology & Infertility, Duke University

Division of Clinical and Epidemiological Research, Duke University

National summary data is being used to analyze the potential effect of fresh autologous stimulation and resulting supraphysiological hormonal milieu in low responders

Role: Co-Investigator with Suheil J. Muasher, MD

State insurance in vitro fertilization mandates and multiple birth rates

Dates: 2/2014—7/2015

Division of Clinical and Epidemiological Research, Duke University

National summary data is being used to analyze the effect of statewide insurance mandates on in vitro fertilization and birth outcomes in the U.S.

Role: Co-Investigator with Jennifer L. Eaton, MD, MSCI

Body mass index and in vitro fertilization outcomes in the United States

Dates: 1/2014—7/2016

Division of Reproductive Endocrinology & Infertility, Duke University

Division of Clinical and Epidemiological Research, Duke University

National summary data is being used to analyze the potential relationship between body mass index and pregnancy outcomes in women undergoing IVF cycles in the U.S.

Role: Co-Investigator with Suheil J. Muasher, MD

How compliant are we? A report on ART practice habits in the United States

Dates: 1/2014—7/2016

Division of Reproductive Endocrinology & Infertility, Duke University

National summary data is being used to analyze recent trends in embryo transfer protocols and how closely they follow societal guidelines

Role: Co-Investigator with Suheil J. Muasher, MD

Previous Awards:

Characterization of a mitochondrial progesterone receptor

Dates: 6/2010—6/2015

Grant: Charles B. Hammond Research Award, Duke University

Division of Reproductive Endocrinology & Infertility, Duke University

A novel method of digitally quantifying fibrosis was developed to study the extent of histological injury in cardiac muscle after myocardial insult in a transgenic mouse model expressing human mitochondrial progesterone receptor

Role: Principal Investigator

Mentor: Thomas M. Price, MD

Institute of Medical Humanities/Plan II Thesis Study Award

Dates: 7/2003—8/2004

Grant: Plan II Senior Thesis Research Grant ($1,000)

University of Texas at Austin, College of Liberal Arts

University of Texas Medical Branch, Institute for Medical Humanities

Funded by the Plan II Honors Program to support senior thesis research, An Animal Anthology: Perspectives on Human and Non-Human Thought and Motivations.
